Regarding: New web site

To all Dwyer Industries customers:

I am happy to announce that we now have a web site up and running. Although all the features of the site are functional, it is still a work in progress and I am sure there will be improvements to the site in the near future.

I think there are features of the site that you will find beneficial. The Announcements page will keep you informed of any new products that we have added to our offering and any price changes that are forthcoming. Price sheets in both PDF and Excel format can be found on the Price Sheet page. On both the Home page and the Contact Us page you can join our mailing list and we will e-mail you any announcements regarding new products and price changes. The Links page will have links to the companies that we represent.

I know this web site has been a long time coming, but I know the final product will be something that will be of benefit to both us and our customers. I hope you do find this site both beneficial and at the same time easy to use and navigate.

Regards,

Stephen Koch
